U.N. Assembly Votes To Admit 18 Nations

Threatened By Security Council Veto

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — By a thumping majority the U. N. General Assembly Thursday approved simultaneous admission of 18 new countries. But a possible big power veto in the Security Council still threatened the entire package deal.

The vote was 52-2 in favor of seeking a favorable recommendation from the Security Council on breaking the long-existing membership deadlock.

As in the Political Committee Wednesday, only China and Cuba voted against the package deal. The United States, Belgium, France, Greece and Israel abstained.

The U. N. announced that Saturday morning had been set for a council meeting.

In order to join the U. N., a country must obtain a recommendation from the council and then receive a two-thirds vote of approval in the General Assembly as the final requirement for admission. This time the Assembly decided to make known its overwhelming majority wish before the Council acts. If the Council approves, the Assembly will be called on to vote its endorsement again.

The big question was whether Nationalist China would veto the application of Outer Mongolia, one of the five Communist states seeking membership. The Soviet Union has said it will accept 18 states or none.

Dr. T. F. Tsiang, the Chinese delegate, was under ever increasing pressure to at least abstain in the Security Council, but aides said he was determined to block the application of Outer Mongolia by any necessary steps.

A council recommendation must obtain approval of 7 of the 11 members, but a veto by any one of the five permanent members would kill it. The United States, France, Britain, China and the Soviet Union make up the five.

Tsiang reiterated his opposition to all five Communist states—Outer Mongolia, Hungary, Albania, Bulgaria and Romania—on the ground they were only satellites of the Soviet Union and not representatives of their peoples.

Tsiang also declared he favors the 13 non-Communist applicants—Ceylon, Cambodia, Japan, Laos, Libya, Nepal, Jordan, Italy, Portugal, Spain, Ireland, Austria and Finland.

EXPECT RECORD YEAR IN RETAIL SALES

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Chamber of Commerce says "a record volume of Christmas buying is expected to push total retail sales" this year to a record "of at least 185 billion dollars." That would be 15 billion more than in 1954.

20 Bank Robberies In Northern Illinois This Year With Total Loot Of $142,974

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago FBI Chief Donald S. Hostetter said Thursday there have been 20 bank robberies in northern Illinois this year, with a total loot of about $142,974.

He said he had suggested to bankers that they return to the old-fashioned tellers' "cages" in an effort to cut the robberies. He said he believed the use of the modern counters instead of the cages has been at least partly responsible for the increase.

Hostetter said FBI files listed the following northern Illinois bank robberies this year:

Genoa State Bank, $14,702, Jan. 7; H. F. Gerhart Banking Co., West Brooklyn, no loot, Jan. 11; Capitol Savings and Loan Assn., Chicago, $1,187, Feb. 10; Valentine Federal Savings and Loan Assn., Cicero, $152, Feb. 26; Investors Savings and Loan Assn., Chicago, $3,418, March 7; River Forest (Ill.) State Bank, $54,287, March 17; Service Federal Savings and Loan Assn., Chicago, $2,832, March 28; Bank of Chicago, $3,079, May 27; Calumet Savings and Loan Assn., Chicago, $11,787, June 2; Michigan Avenue National Bank, Chicago, $1,550, June 3; Reserve Savings and Loan Assn., Chicago, $2,448, June 13; Grand Crossing Savings and Loan Assn., Chicago, $974, June 20.

Brighton Savings and Loan Assn., Chicago, unsuccessful, July 15; Chicago Savings and Loan Assn., $11,351, Aug. 22; Douglas Savings and Loan Assn., Chicago, $380, Aug. 25; Pomar Grove (Ill.) State Bank, $4,700, Aug. 26; Valentine

AFL-CIO Hear Adlai Claim Benson, McKay Play Ugly Politics

NEW YORK (AP) — Adlai Stevenson accused some of President Eisenhower's lieutenants Thursday of "playing ugly politics of group conflict and hatred."

Those to whom he alluded included two Cabinet members — Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson and Interior Secretary Douglas McKay.

"Is this, indeed, an attempt to stir up class conflict?" the announced candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination asked the AFL-CIO convention.

"No election, no office is worth such a price."

Stevenson told heartily cheering delegates and visitors:

"Today McCarthyism is out of style. But I wonder if a similar hate campaign is in the making around distorted images of 'goons' and 'power-hungry labor bosses,' two ugly phrases we hear almost daily."

Stevenson, speaking in his usual polished manner with occasional quips that drew laughter, won standing ovations at the beginning and end of his speech.

He was applauded 27 times, somewhat more frequently than Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, a potential rival for the nomination, who addressed the convention Tuesday.

Another ovation was given Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, widow of the New Deal President.

She told the delegates the most important thing about the recent merger of the AFL and CIO is that, "Since you have this new power you will accept greater responsibility as citizens."

The delegates also heard J. Addison Wagner, American Legion national commander, call for "greater frankness" by the Eisenhower administration "instead of attempting to sweeten the bitter failure that was Geneva."

Before and after the speeches, the delegates stamped rapid approval to a number of resolutions in a rush toward adjournment.

The four-day convention adjourned at 4:17 p.m. (CST).

Pravda Hails Tour Of India By Two Leaders 'Success'

MOSCOW (AP) — The Communist party newspaper Pravda Thursday hailed the success of the tour of India and Burma by Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and party chief Nikita Khrushchev, saying it had filled the Western Powers with anger and confusion.

Izvestia, the government newspaper, and Red Star, the Soviet army paper, also cheered strengthening of relations between the Soviet Union and India and Burma. The articles and editorials in Moscow newspapers would give readers who do not know otherwise the impression that India and Burma are firm Soviet allies instead of being committed to neutralist policies.

It represented a new low for the third time in as many years, the bureau said, and 11 per cent under the previous low record set in 1953.

Judge Cuts 2 Years From Swindler's 5 Year Sentence

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal judge Thursday cut two years from the five-year sentence of George F. Vaseen, 59, convicted of swindling investors of nearly two million dollars in a Mississippi oil well promotion scheme.

Among the heavy losers in the scheme were a former associate of Al Capone and the reputed gambling boss of LaSalle County, Ill. Vaseen, of suburban Oak Park, was convicted March 3, 1954, for mail fraud in promoting a dry well in Wiggins, Miss.—a hole four miles deep, the second deepest ever dug by man.

Judge Joseph Sam Perry, who imposed the original sentence, reduced it at the request of Vaseen's attorney, Meyer Gladstone, after the U. S. Court of Appeals upheld the conviction and the U. S. Supreme Court refused to hear an appeal.

Vaseen has been free on bond. Judge Perry gave him until Monday to wind up his affairs before beginning the sentence.

Bank Robbery Suspect, Offering Bribe, Is Held

CHICAGO (AP) — A pistol-wielding ex-convict who police said tried to bribe a policeman with $1,000 turned out Thursday to have no $1,000, several aliases and no apparent connection with a Lake Geneva, Wis., bank robbery.

Police said a fingerprint check revealed the man to be Gerald O'Brien, 32, who was paroled July 21 from Stateville Penitentiary after serving eight years for robbery.

O'Brien had used the name Donald Kramer when seized at gunpoint with his wife, Pat, 28, Wednesday night. Police said he also used the name William Stubbs and gave both Chicago and Champaign, Ill., addresses.

Police said the FBI was checking the possibility that O'Brien was involved in the $74,000 bank robbery at Lake Geneva Wednesday but had not found anything to implicate him. Chicago FBI Chief Donald Hostetter, however, declined to comment.

Detectives said O'Brien had told them he was in Lake Geneva Wednesday but that they doubted if this was true because he was intoxicated and making "a lot of statements that turned out to be completely false and groundless."

Policeman Hank Davis, who made the arrest, said O'Brien matched the general description of the lone rubber-masked gunman who terrorized nine employees at the Lake Geneva bank.

Police said O'Brien, who was held without charge, would be questioned about a recent shooting in a South Side tavern and several robberies in the Chicago area.

Plan Lie Detector Tests In Effort To Find Couple

LEBANON, Ill. (AP) — Lie detector tests are planned for at least three persons Friday in the latest efforts of authorities to crack the baffling disappearance of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith, believed slain by a maniac killer.

Clifford Flood, chief deputy sheriff of St. Clair County, said Thursday he had asked the Illinois State Crime Laboratory at Springfield to furnish equipment for the tests.

He refused to divulge names of the persons to be given the tests. Flood's announcement followed news that a few strands of hair had been found in a new search of the couple's isolated home near Lebanon.

Reese G. Dobson, Belleville chief of police, found the hairs caked in a small spot of blood on a baseboard in one of the rooms. Samples of Mrs. Smith's hair were taken for comparison from a hair brush and hair pin.

There had been no trace of Smith, 30, and his wife, Arline, 35, since they vanished 11 days ago. All four rooms of the home were blood-stained and there were five bullet holes, fired from the outside, in two windows and a door.

Flood said a broken tooth found in the home didn't belong to either of the missing persons. Tire marks, a brown leather belt and a pool of blood in the yard of the home led officers to believe the couple was slain, dragged to a car and taken away.

Bombay Showers Pearls On Visiting King Saud

BOMBAY, India (AP) — About 2,000 genuine pearls showered down on King Saud of Saudi Arabia Thursday as he came ashore at the airport. The pearls were given him by a well-known businessman, who said the pearls were given to him by a friend of his.

Thousands of Moslems lined the streets of the brilliantly decorated city as the visiting monarch drove beneath triumphal arches from the airport to government house.

West Must Maintain Huge Retaliatory Power: Dulles

First Wife Pleads Innocent To Charge Of Killing Second

CASPER, Wyo. (AP) — Mrs. Rose Alexander, 42, mother of two, pleaded innocent Thursday to charges she killed her husband's second wife and buried her in the basement of their home July 18, 1953.

The body of Mrs. Barbara Alexander, 27, was found Monday by officers who dug through 4½ inches of concrete to reach the remains.

Rose told a coroner's jury Wednesday the death of Barbara was accidental. In reply to a question why she failed to report it, she said:

"I was very frightened. It would hurt the children. They would think the worst of me. They wouldn't believe me. The children, it would break their little hearts..."

James Alexander, 48, former Casper high school instructor now employed at Worland, Wyo., told the jury he knew nothing about his second wife's death until the discovery of her body.

He and Rose were divorced in 1950. They were married Dec. 28, 1953, in Hartford, Conn., where he was on the fire department staff. After the marriage to Barbara, Alexander said Rose came to live with them for about a year.

Alexander said Rose left later and Barbara warned him she would leave too if she found out he ever visited his former wife.

After Barbara disappeared, Alexander said, he assumed she had learned he had been visiting Rose and had carried out her threat.

At the inquest, Rose said Barbara slipped and fell into an enclosed pit at the home. A stack of bricks and concrete blocks, she said, were toppled by a broken banister onto the prone woman, inflicting fatal injuries.

Two days later, she said, she placed the body under a six-inch layer of dirt. The next month Alexander placed a concrete floor in the basement.

Over Million Shots Of Salk Anti-Polio Vaccine Released

WASHINGTON (AP) — Release of 1,017,054 shots of Salk anti-polio vaccine to the states and territories for use under the voluntary control program was announced Thursday by the Public Health Service.

The Health Service also announced reallocation of 92,205 cc. of previously released Lilly vaccine which had been reserved for the states of Maine and Washington.

All vaccine released since August has been made by Lilly and by Pitman-Moore Company, Zionsville, Ind., although there are six licensed manufacturers.

The vaccine released Thursday plus that reallocated was divided among these states as follows:

Bomber Crashes In Pacific; Rescue Three, Seek Seven

HONOLULU (AP) — A two-engine Navy patrol bomber on maneuvers crashed in the Pacific Wednesday night. Three crewmen were rescued by a submarine. An air and sea search continued Thursday for seven others.

Lt. Marvin L. Claude, pilot of a companion plane, reported he lost contact with the plane, then spotted a flare in the water 1,500 feet below.

The submarine Bashaw, one of seven in the area during the air-submarine maneuvers, reached the scene about 40 miles northwest of Oahu Island and rescued the three yesterday.

They were identified as Lt. K. C. Guedel, pilot, Miami, Fla.; Lt. (jg) E. J. O'Malley, copilot, Chicago, and Lt. (jg) Robert S. Smith, Montgomery, Ala.

Ike, Advisers Hold Three Sessions Trying To Trim 1956 Budget

THURMONT, Md. (AP) — President Eisenhower held three sessions with his top advisers at fog-covered Camp David Thursday in an effort to trim the budget and perhaps offer a 1956 election year tax cut.

Two meetings of the National Security Council were preceded by an hour-long separate conference with Secretary of Defense Wilson, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, Budget Director Rowland Hughes and Secretary of State Dulles.

Humphrey reiterated his predictions that the budget will be brought into balance by next July 1 but said Eisenhower himself will say whether taxes can be cut in his State of the Union message to Congress in January.

Reporters asked Humphrey whether his forecast of a balanced budget by the end of this fiscal year took into account "indications of increased military expenditures."

"I don't give a damn what the indications are," he said, smiling. "I think we are going to balance the budget."

"Does that mean a tax cut?" a reporter asked.

"I think I have gone a long way out on the limb already, don't you?" he replied.

"What can you say about taxes now?" newsmen pressed.

"Nothing right now. I imagine the President will be saying something about it in his State of the Union message."

Humphrey talked with reporters just before the President drove up to the conference site, situated in the heavily guarded presidential retreat in the Catocin Mountains about six miles from this little Maryland town. Eisenhower made the 22-mile drive from his farmhouse at Gettysburg, Pa.

After the budget conference at the main lodge, the President walked more than 200 yards to rustic Laurel Lodge for a two-hour session of the NSC. The Council made a further review of defense spending in preparation for the over-all budget for the 1957 fiscal year.

Answers To Benson's Call For Letters Swamp Employees

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ezra Taft Benson Pen Pal Club is growing rapidly. More than 4,000 already have joined, and 400 new members are coming in each day.

You may remember that the secretary of agriculture, in a Cleveland speech on Nov. 23, appealed to the public to send in suggestions for solving the farm problem. Since then, in other speeches, he has made the same appeal.

Well, Benson asked for it. So many letters have rolled in that four Agriculture Department employees have been put to reading Benson's mail.

Ernest C. Best Jr., a Benson assistant, said Wednesday it works like this:

During the first reading all ideas and suggestions are underlined in red, and put into 10 general categories for further study.

Some, of course, require only one reading. Among these are the letters from pen pals who have no opinions on how to solve the farmers' difficulties, but do have some strong opinions on the secretary.

Only Firm Foundation For Peace

CHICAGO (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles said Thursday night Western countries must bolster their alliances and maintain "selective retaliatory power" in order to meet Russia's new challenge to their security.

"Our capacity to retaliate must be, and is, massive in order to deter all forms of aggression," Dulles said. "But if we have to use that capacity, such use would be selective and adapted to the occasion."

Dulles spoke out in a major foreign policy address prepared for delivery before the Illinois Manufacturers Assn.

He predicted that Western European nations, by speeding up their drive toward unity and greater prosperity, eventually would increase pressure on Russia to loosen its grip on its satellite states.

"This (unity) may speed the day," the secretary said, "when Soviet rulers will come to realize that to hold these European nations in subjugation involves an obsolete reactionary practice, entailing costs, moral and material, far outweighing the seeming advantages."

Dulles advised that "we need not become panicky" because Russia's rulers have launched a major campaign of promises of aid to underdeveloped areas in the world.

Free Asiatic leaders, he said, will not be "easily duped by false promises" from Russia, nor will they disregard the danger of communism.

He added that Congress will "practically respond" with appropriations for "as much money for this purpose as we think can usefully be spent" to continue America's historic program of aid to less developed lands.

Dulles did not predict how much Congress would be asked to provide for this purpose, but he said the Eisenhower administration would "seek somewhat more flexibility than heretofore" in its foreign aid spending program.

Dulles already has reported that the level of over-all foreign aid to friendly countries would remain at about the present level—$2,700,000,000 in new funds annually.

In repeating his massive retaliation theme, an idea which frightened some Europeans when it was first advanced some two years ago, Dulles stressed it was "a firm foundation for peace."

While maintaining this power of retaliation, he said, the Western Allies must "earnestly strive for some dependable system" of arms reductions with Russia. But, he stressed:

"Until we succeed in such efforts... we and our allies must constantly maintain forces, weapons and facilities necessary to deter armed aggression, large or small."

In contrast to America's unselfish motives, Russia "cruelly calculates on how to exploit, for its selfish ends, the aspirations of the peoples of less developed lands," Dulles said.

Dulles said Russia's new tactics "do not mark a change of purpose" on the part of her present leaders.

ECHOES FROM THE BLAST

At last summer's Geneva meeting at "the summit," Russia and the West seemed to confirm what had been increasingly evident: that they both regarded nuclear warfare as unthinkable. But we must realize that this is an attitude which can change as the circumstances of power are altered.

The summertime accord on this vital issue reflected what for all practical purposes is an East-West stalemate in the nuclear field. That does not mean the Russians match us either in number or quality of A and H-bomb devices. It means they have enough of such weapons to hurt us badly if a war should ever start.

But stalemates do not necessarily stay fixed. For one thing, the Reds could conceivably close at least part of the gap which now represents our numerical and qualitative advantage.

More important than this, however, is what they might be able to do in the related, crucial field of intercontinental missiles.

Colossal as they are, A and H-bombs are not technically new weapons. They are simply stupendous bombs, which like others must be delivered by planes to their targets. The intercontinental missile is a new weapon.

In view of some experts, it is the "ultimate" weapon, since its launching can't be stopped, its interception isn't yet practical, and adequate protection for targets hasn't been devised.

Fortune magazine, in its December issue, says Russia may have working models of such a missile by the 1960's or not before. For the Russians to gain a significant lead in this field would be dangerous for the West in the extreme. The stalemate would be ended, and the Reds' resolve not to fight an all-out war might melt away.

Consequently, as the magazine reports, the United States now is pressing its own intercontinental missile program with utmost speed. Says Fortune:

"At least one company has received the flat order: 'Spend whatever is necessary to save a week, even a day.' Three years ago this country was laying out nothing for this program. Next year a quarter billion dollars will be spent on it."

The race to perfect an intercontinental missile may be the most vital one the United States has ever joined. Until we are sure we have won it—and we must win it—we ought not to take too much comfort from the nuclear stalemate which seems at the moment to make another world war a remote prospect.

SPLITTING THE PERSONALITY

It used to be that a man had to be his old self for quite a few years before anyone dared talk of his becoming "new." But the pace of life is swifter now.

So, observers commenting on the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, who only three years ago burst onto the national scene for the first time, today are talking of him as the "new Adlai."

Seems the "old Adlai" troubled some of his political brethren because they felt he was too aloof for the ordinary citizen. A few think he is, but others happily cite the evidences of change.

They say that at the recent Democratic affair in Chicago Stevenson was tap-dancing and handshaking in the best approved political style. Once he became so thoroughly engaged with a group of women that he sat down to dine with them, completely forgetting he had a dinner date elsewhere.

Stevenson's problem now would seem to be not to let the "new Adlai" fall so fully into standard political patterns that some of his friends begin wishing they had the old "Adlai" back.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—News stories out of here give the impression President Eisenhower is taking an increasingly active part in running the government. The impression is correct, for he is.

But it is still a very limited part: a few hours in the morning, and not every morning, conferring with members of his official family. He is far from making it a full-time occupation.

When he does come down to his office in the post office, he goes back home to his nearby farm by noon. There he rests, naps, and walks around a bit.

But there is no reason to believe—as some people may have felt—that Eisenhower's conferences with his advisers and Cabinet members since he came here are window dressing to make him appear more active than he is.

The conferences Eisenhower is having are real enough. And he is stepping up the pace. That's what his doctors wanted him to do, both for practical reasons and to build up his morale. They have said they wouldn't be able to tell how full his recovery has been until he has more nearly resumed the full load of the presidency, perhaps in February.

But what is happening here is quite different from the kind of daily routine Eisenhower had to follow in Washington before his heart attack. He did a full day's work then.

He would have to have these conferences anyway, if he was at all physically able. In early 1956 he has to send Congress his budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1956, his budget message, his State of the Union message outlining his program for the 1956 election year, and the report of his economic advisers.

Traditional Eggnog Lends Flavor to Holiday Treat

COMPLETE WITH HOLLY BOWS for a dressy touch, eggnog pie fits into the festive holiday scene perfectly.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Markets Editor

Everyone expects eggnog sometime during the Christmas holidays. That's an old tradition. But let's enjoy a variation on that pleasant theme and make an eggnog pie—creamy, lovely to look at, and flecked with nutmeg.

Eggnog Pie (Yield: 6 servings)
One envelope unflavored gelatin, 1 cup cold water, 3 eggs, separated; 1 teaspoon salt, 2/3 cup sugar, 1 cup milk, 1 cup heavy cream, 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 9-inch baked pastry shell, 1 teaspoon ground nutmeg, holly leaves for garnish.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Beat egg yolks in top of double boiler. Add salt and 1/3 cup of sugar. Stir in milk. Cook over hot water until the mixture coats a metal spoon, stirring frequently. Blend in softened gelatin. Beat egg whites until they stand in soft peaks. Beat in remaining 1/3 cup sugar; fold into mixture. Set aside to cool. Beat 1/2 of the heavy cream and fold into cooled mixture along with the vanilla extract. Turn into a baked pastry shell. Just before serving, whip remaining cream and place around edge of pie. Sprinkle center with ground nutmeg and arrange holly leaves in cream, for garnish.

Here's another recipe for Christmas: Cherry Butter Cookies (Makes 2 to 3 dozen)
One cup softened butter or margarine, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon pure vanilla, 1 cup finely chopped walnuts, 1 cup chopped maraschino cherries, drained (about 20 cherries).

Cream butter or margarine with sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs and mix well. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Chill thoroughly. Roll out on lightly floured surface to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut with floured cookie cutter. Place on ungreased baking sheets. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Frost and garnish with additional maraschino cherries, as desired.

Pleasant Visitors Drop In On Their Way Southward

Yesterday we had an unexpected, drop-in visit from a bunch of tourists going South for the winter. They drank heartily, washed off the dust of their travels, loafed around in the sunshine for a couple of hours and then were on their way again without a word.

But they didn't owe us any thanks for our hospitality. Their visit brightened our whole day.

In fact, we felt a bit apologetic for not being ready for our guests. Though flocks of robins have stopped every year in our yard to refresh themselves on their long trip South, this year when they arrived the bird bath wasn't filled, and the greedy blue jays who hang around all the time had eaten most of the food in the bird feeder.

WANTED: A "HOBNO" SIGN ON THE YARD
Going out in the yard to replenish the bath and the larder, we feared we might frighten our visitors away.

But they only retreated to the next yard—at least two hundred strong—and waited in the treetops until the guest facilities were made ready.

Then they came back to eat, drink and bathe. Though they seemed in no hurry they didn't waste time. They took baths three or four at a time. And while the dusty bathed, the thirsty rimmed the edge of the bird bath, drinking their fill not in the least annoyed by being splashed by the bathers.

I hope that, like hoboes, migrating robins have a way of marking a house that is an easy touch. For I'd like to think that our very same visitors will stop off on their way North next spring. If they do they will find their bath ready and the larder full.

Boyle's Column

By STAN SWINTON
(For Hal Boyle)

BRIONI, Yugoslavia (AP)—You can find out a lot about a man if you poke around his living room for a while—even a dictator.

For instance, Marshal Josef Broz Tito, President of independently Communist Yugoslavia, likes boats—be they models or real speedboats. His taste in antique statuary is excellent and his taste in painting embarrassing.

You reach the Tito mansion by walking up a winding drive, past fountains lighted with changing colors at night and wooded groves where white-tailed deer hide.

Just short of the house, you see the sleek convertible Tito loves to drive. Too, you pass carriages drawn by magnificent grey horses. And then you are looked over by security guards and into the house you go.

The living room is the reverse of cozy. The big room is floored in black marble. At the far end is a piano, prettily painted gold and ivory. Five model ships are spotted around the room: an old galleon, a big model of the coastal vessel Vladimir Nazor in dry dock, and three sailboats.

Inside a glass case sit dozens of beautiful Roman statuettes, all magnificently preserved and executed with a grace which hints they likely were the work of Greek slaves. Tito proudly reported all were excavated on Brioni.

Oddly out of place in the room is a Spanish cavalier in delicately painted porcelain—but not nearly as out of place as a large statue of a nude girl with her hand covering her face which stands outside on the veranda.

The home of the boss of Yugoslavia is that of a man of action, except for the oddly out of place piano and Spanish cavalier. But most out of place of all is the one big oil painting which stands in his living room.

The frame is battered, the painting torn in several places. It shows plump women holding down a cow, while cherubs wing about, and as a work of art it is very inferior.

The dynamic Tito spent most of his life as a revolutionary, often in hiding. I felt that he must have picked up a conviction somewhere along the line that a living room should have a big painting and he didn't care very much what his looked like.

There wasn't a book or magazine in the room.

Yes, it's mighty interesting to spend an hour in a man's living room. You can learn a lot about him, including a man who rules a nation.

Soviet Salesmen's Clients May End Up Plain Suckers

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The keynote of coming commercial competition with America—sounded by Russian leaders Bulganin and Khrushchev on their current tour of Asian nations—raises interesting angles on the cold war shift into economic warfare.

About all the Soviet salesmen have done so far is to make contact and offer friendship. The record of Russian contract signed and deliveries made on time leaves a great deal to be desired by their clients.

U. S. foreign trade experts point to Russian failure to deliver petroleum products to Latin-America and machinery to Yugoslavia. Consequently, any of the underdeveloped countries who sign up with the Russians are buying a pig in a poke.

About all the Communist bloc countries have to export are propaganda and surplus, secondhand arms.

When This Correspondent was in Cairo for Egypt's independence day observance, one of the highlights of the celebration was a fireworks spectacular on the Nile.

Inquiry as to where the fireworks came from disclosed they had been sold to the Egyptians by the Chinese Communists. They had put on a similar display at the conclusion of an international trade fair held in Cairo earlier in the year. The Egyptians bought a duplicate, paying for it in cotton.

Asked what else the Communists had sold at the fair, the Egyptians replied, "Nothing."

There had been some Russian, but mostly Czech, machinery on exhibit. But there were no prices on anything. Also, the salesmen were extremely vague on deliveries. It was all Communist show to impress Egypt.

About This Time, the U. S. Department of Commerce got excited over the competition. A stepped-up American participation in trade fairs was begun.

It was apparently designed to compete with Chinese Communist fireworks. Anyway, Hollywood's Cinerama wowed the Arabs at one fair. An American toy train seems to have been the sensation in Pakistan.

How much business this has brought to American exporters has not been revealed.

A far more concrete development came just as the Bulganin-Khrushchev tour was getting started. U. S. Industrialist Henry Kaiser announced a 130-million-dollar contract to build a steel mill in India. And when Bulganin and Khrushchev went to visit a dam construction project, they found American engineers supervising the contract.

These aren't vague promises. They are actual deliveries.

An Egyptian financial mission has been here dicker with the World Bank on financing the billion-dollar Aswan dam project in the Nile valley.

Without making any survey of their own, the Russians have breezed in on the deal. They offer to build the project for less money, finance it at lower interest rates, and take payment in cotton, instead of hard money. It is no doubt a tempting offer. But can the Russians deliver?

Fortunately the Egyptians seem to realize that they will get a better dam from a World Bank project. But if the World Bank turns it down as unsound, the Egyptians may turn in desperation to the Russians, just as they did in their cotton-for-arms deal with Czechoslovakia.

But they could become just another object lesson like every other country that has listened to siren songs of the Soviet super salesmen.

Children's Heart Murmurs Put in Their True Niche

Gone are the days, thank goodness, when every child with a heart murmur was put to bed for months or years and made into a chronic invalid. Nevertheless, the discovery of a heart murmur in a youngster frequently causes the parents to become considerably alarmed.

One mother, for example, recently wrote, "My daughter, age 6, has a heart murmur and I have been told she will outgrow this by the age of 15, and not to worry about it. Can you give me further information?"

Apparently, in this case the little girl's physician feels that the child has what is known as a "functional" heart murmur. This kind of thing is quite common in children and it does not mean that disease is present. Functional murmurs are outgrown and need not interfere in any way with the life and activities of the youngster who has one.

WHEN A MURMUR is heard, however, it is always necessary to decide whether it is functional or the result of heart disease and if it is the result of disease, whether the disease is active or healed.

Most of those murmurs in youngsters resulting from disease are caused by rheumatic fever, some, of course, are the result of defects which were present at birth and are called congenital murmurs.

The heart murmurs resulting from rheumatic fever are, of course, potentially more serious than functional murmurs. It is necessary in each case to decide where the murmur is coming from: that is, what part of the heart is involved, how badly the heart has been damaged, and whether or not it is progressive.

ACTUALLY, EVEN IN MANY cases of heart murmurs from rheumatic fever, the outlook is pretty good, though in others the activity may have to be restricted and other measures instituted.

Most of the heart murmurs from birth defects are fairly serious. Some of them are responsible also for the blue babies which everyone has heard of. Today many of these can be corrected by heart surgery.

Until the whole situation has been carefully studied, it is impossible to know what if anything needs to be done for the youngster (or grownup) with a heart murmur.

OF COURSE, SOMEONE with a murmur and signs of serious interference with functioning of the heart must receive treatment and usually cannot undertake strenuous physical exertion. In fact in the severe cases rest in bed may still be necessary.

Nevertheless, the outlook for most patients with a heart murmur is now considered to be pretty good. Many people with this symptom can lead practically normal lives.

As time goes on more and more is being learned about this subject. Encouraging developments, too, can be expected from our increasing knowledge about rheumatic fever and the remarkable progress in heart surgery. With what we know about preventing rheumatic fever we can hope and expect that heart murmurs of this origin will become less frequent.

IN HOT SPOT Brigadier General L. H. Harris commands U. S. Army forces in West Berlin during the developing crisis there. A Communist blockade of the sector is expected.

"I forgot to tell you, dear, it has a warning gadget that pops but to prevent squeezing a full tube in the middle!"

Local Ministerial Association Votes Several Changes

The Jacksonville Ministerial Association met at the Dunlap Hotel Dec. 6 to act upon changes in its constitution.

The Association has felt for some time that some changes should be made in the stated purposes of the Association and great concern for the membership. Members adopted the following changes:

The purpose of the Jacksonville Ministerial Association is to be patterned after the National Council of Churches. This change will give a definite and concrete program with respect to the objectives and purpose of the Association.

The second change on the membership is to read as follows: "Members are those Ministers of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, who are in harmony with the intent and purpose of the Association and actively participate and support its programs, provided they (the members and prospective members) are approved by a 2/3 vote of the existing membership."

The Rev. Vernon MacNeil executive secretary of the Illinois Council of Churches was present and briefed the Association on the nature and function of the City Council of Churches. Dr. MacNeil also explained the relationship of the Ministerial Association and the Council of Church Women to the City Council of Churches.

If the City Council of Churches is to be organized, the Ministerial Association and the Council of Church Women would remain autonomous organizations while working with the City Council of Churches.

Dr. MacNeil also met with the lay leaders and ministers of local churches at a luncheon, presenting the City Council of Churches to them, which was met with favorable opinions.

Dr. Joseph Baug the president of the Ministerial Association, stated that the Association will be the clearing house and general steering of this original nucleus until a City Council of Churches is formed.

LYNNVILLE CLASS MEETING FRIDAY

The Adelphi class of the Lynnville Christian church will meet at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening at the church. All members and friends are invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mason will have charge of the program, and Mrs. Earl Hempel will conduct devotions. Refreshments will be in the form of a pound party.

WRONG ROAD

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Iowa is out of step in highway financing, Robert H. Johnson, a University of Iowa economist says.

Johnson says road costs now take 3.3 per cent of Iowans' personal income, compared with the national average of 1.8 per cent. He points out that though Iowa ranks fifth in the nation in mileage of secondary roads and seventh in total street and highway mileage, the state is 16th in number of vehicles, 21st in the income of its people and 22nd in size of population and land area.

SAVE YOUR WOODEN NICKELS—The guy who tells you not to take any wooden nickels just doesn't know what's going on in Beloit. The Beloit State Bank is giving a real dollar for every 20 wooden nickels you bring in. Of course, the "coins" must be the ones they make and hand out to customers who pay for parking when they come to the bank. For every real nickel dropped in the parking meter, the customer gets a wooden one, shown in insert above. Gunny Jesse, Beloit College senior from Appleton, Wis., is taking a "bath" in the wooden nickels that are worth money.

Shoppers To Find Good Buys In Beef, Pork This Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Shoppers will find attractive buys in beef, pork and chickens in the nation's food stores this weekend.

Chuck roast will be the most popular beef item on the list of specials. In a few areas, steaks and prime ribs will be higher than a week ago.

Pork remains the outstanding meat buy. One large chain is cutting pork chop prices by four to six cents a pound and more from a week ago.

Frying chickens will be trimmed in some stores by four cents a pound.

Egg prices will be down in most places. Stores are planning reductions of two cents or more a dozen. Butter prices will be about the same as a week ago.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture picks sweet potatoes as a feature for this week. Production is 19 per cent larger than last year. So there are generous supplies.

From the produce markets comes word that potatoes, onions, turnips, radishes and greens are the outstanding buys in vegetables this week.

WAVERLY

WAVERLY—Future Farmers of America of Waverly left Thursday by bus for Chicago. On Thursday they visited the Chicago Board of Trade, Observatory, Museum of Science and Industry and checked into the Del Prado hotel and then went to the Horse Show at the International Amphitheatre.

The boys taking the trip were Bill Handy, Donald Manis, James Kindred, Carroll Turner, David Leamons, J. V. Rhea, Ron Hunt, Dick Hall, Allen Keltner and Keith Rector and transportation was provided by Irving Hunt and Ralph Twenhafel, their instructor in agriculture.

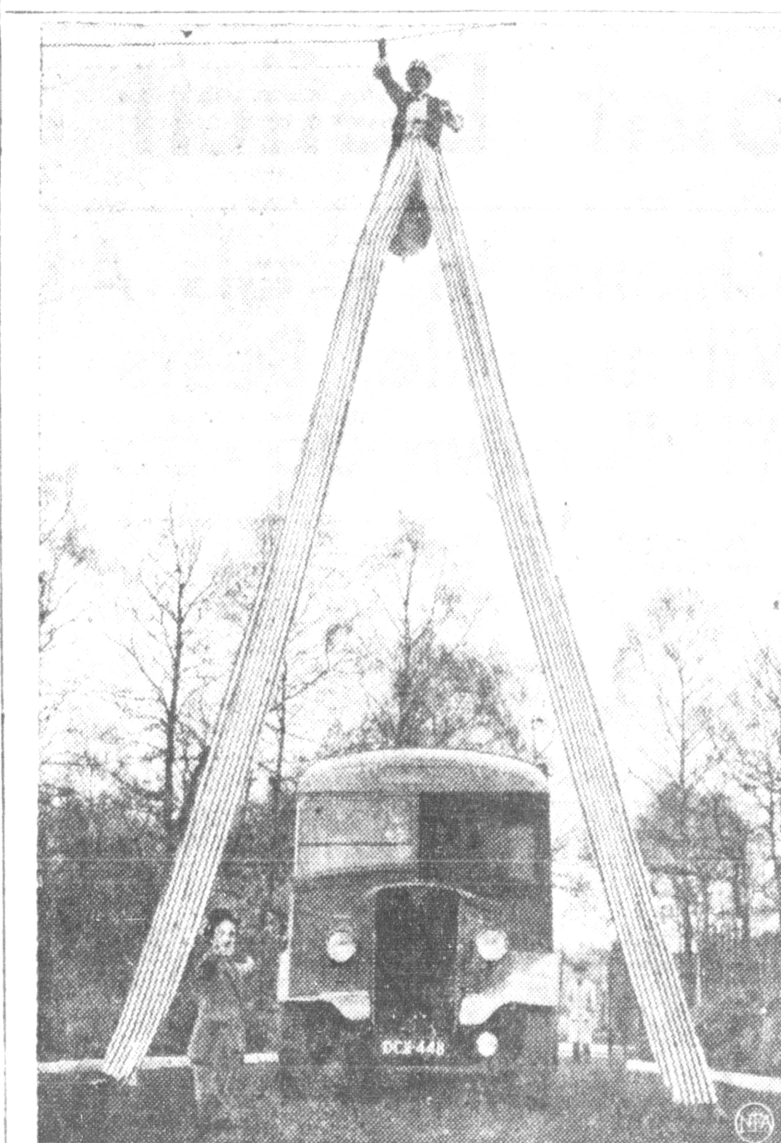

The last meeting of the South Side Birthday club was held at the home of Mrs. Doris Dossett, with Mrs. Eileen Martin as co-hostess. After the business meeting Mrs. Virginia Points demonstrated how to make Christmas centerpieces and several other items. A silent auction was also held.

Several contests and games were held during the social hour, with prizes going to Mrs. Hazel Anderson, Mrs. Schofield, Mrs. Marie Anderson and Mrs. Maxine Schofield. After the games refreshments were served by the hostesses.

L. E. Welch, who entered Barnes hospital, St. Louis, a week ago Sunday, underwent surgery Thursday. Mrs. Welch and Mrs. Harold Lowery went to St. Louis Wednesday. Mrs. Welch remaining for a longer stay.

TREASURED TABLE

MIAMI, Okla.—One of the most treasured possessions of Mrs. Emma Schubert is a plain, wooden kitchen table.

The 60-year-old table served as an altar for Oklahoma's first Catholic bishop, Theophile Meerschaert, when he made a missionary visit to the Quapaw Indian tribe in 1892. It was later used by many ministers.

JACKSONVILLE TELEPHONE USERS

As you know, Jacksonville's telephone system will become automatic on December 18. Between December 10 and December 18, all orders involving installations, moves or changes of telephone instruments as to type or location will be taken as usual, but not processed until after December 18. The reason for this is, of course, that, as the date of the change-over draws closer, our employees in all departments must spend more and more time on tasks associated directly with the change-over.

After December 18, all such orders will, of course, be taken care of as soon as possible.

Blueboy Cagers Rally In Final Two Minutes To Rack Up 60-52 Win

Hopalong Cassidy Receives Heisman Award Thursday

NEW YORK (AP)—Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy, the all-everything player of the 1955 football season, came to New York Thursday to accept the Heisman Trophy and deftly parried the questions of the press.

Cassidy faced newspapermen at the Downtown Athletic Club prior to the dinner at which he received the Heisman Trophy as the outstanding player of 1955.

Among other things he told the writers that he hasn't made up his mind between playing professional baseball and football after graduation; that the most important thing right now is bucking down to his studies so he'll get his degree in June, and that he enjoyed playing in the Michigan game and didn't think Ron Kramer was a bit too rough although he was just as happy when Kramer tackled someone else.

The personable redhead who lugged the ball 958 yards and scored 15 touchdowns in leading Ohio State to its second straight Big Ten title, had a reasonable explanation for almost everything that happened during the 1955 season.

The reason Ohio State lost two games this fall, Cassidy said, was that the team was "green" at the start and just couldn't get going. Then everything seemed to settle down at once and the team began to realize its potentialities.

PODRES TAKES BABE'S PLACE
NEW YORK (AP)—Johnny Podres has taken Babe Ruth's place as the second youngest southpaw to pitch a World Series shutout. A check of the records shows that Bill (Lefty) James of the 1914 Miracle Braves of Boston was 22 years, 7 months when he beat the Athletics with a two-hitter, 1-0.

Podres was 23 years, 4 days when he blanked the Yankees, 2-0, with eight hits in the deciding game of the 1955 Series. Ruth, baseball's home run king, was 23 years, 7 months when he shut out the Cubs for the Red Sox, 1-0, on six hits in the 1918 Series opener.

Waite Hoyt, born in Brooklyn but a pitching star for the Yankees, is the youngest right hander to hurl a Series shutout. He was 22 years, 1 month in 1921 when he pitched a two-hitter to beat the Giants in the Polo Grounds, 3-0.

Michigan State is the only Big Ten institution to win Rose Bowl bids twice within a three year period.

Olson Favored 3-1 Odds Over Robinson In Title Bout Friday

CHICAGO (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson's comeback reaches the "all or nothing" stage Friday night when the former welterweight and middleweight champ faces Bobo Olson, current middleweight king, in a 15-round title match at Chicago Stadium.

Although 35-year-old Sugar Ray is dancing dandy in his heyday, may be the sentimental favorite, the hard money has made Olson a 3 to 1 choice. If Robinson wins, he'll be the first ever to recapture the 160-pound title twice.

Because Robinson is on display and a title hangs in the balance, the radio-television sponsors are coughing up $75,000 so that the bout may be heard and seen on network (NBC) broadcasts. Chicago and a 150-mile area, however, will be blacked out on TV to help the gate. The fight starts at 9 p.m. (CST).

Truman Gibson, secretary of the promoting International Boxing Club, talks of a crowd of 12,000 and a gate of $150,000. More conservative estimates put the crowd figure at 9,000 and the gate at about $130,000.

MONMOUTH (Special)—Coach Al Miller's Illinois College Blueboys came from behind in the final two minutes of play here last night to gain their third consecutive basketball victory of the current campaign, 60-52.

I.C.'s quint outscored host Monmouth College—favored to win the Midwest Conference championship—before a capacity crowd in the Monmouth arena.

The Millermen played without the services of guard Bill Morris, an outstanding defensive player for the past three seasons. Morris suffered a head injury in Wednesday night's contest with Culver-Stocker College in Canton, Mo. He'll be back in action when the Blueboys meet Rose Polytechnic Institute Saturday in a Prairie College Conference battle at Terre Haute, Ind.

Last night, Monmouth jumped off to a lead in the early minutes—at one time the hosts held a 12 point margin. At halftime, the Blueboys trailed 20-16.

A minute and 50 seconds remained in the contest when the Blueboys tied it up, 52-52.

Then the I.C. defense tightened to hold Monmouth scoreless while three Blueboys pumped eight points through the net.

Jim Bonds returned to the hill-top hardwood lineup this season after two years with Uncle Sam, led off with a field goal and two free throws to put the locals ahead, 56-52.

In the final minute, guard Dick Barnes—who, by the way, was top scorer in the game with 19 points—and center Ed Harrell each sank a pair of gift tosses to build up the final 60-52 victory margin.

Walker Cooper Is Back With Cards; Wooldridge Leaves
ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals Thursday sent pitcher Floyd Wooldridge, 26-year-old right-hander, to their Omaha farm club of the American Assn. to make room for Walker Cooper.

The Cardinals purchased the 41-year-old Cooper, a Cardinal star of a decade ago, last Tuesday soon after the Chicago Cubs put him on the waiver list. He will be used as a pinch batter and third string catcher.

Wooldridge is the unlucky Springfield, Mo., prospect whose pitching career suffered a setback when he received a compound fracture of the right ankle in a highway accident in November 1953.

Last season he had a 2-4 record with the Cardinals.

Downpour Forces Cancellation Of Scores At Miami
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A downpour forced cancellation of the day's first round play in the $12,500 Miami Open Golf Tournament Thursday nullifying five 4-under-par 66s fired by Doug Ford and Billy Maxwell.

PGA tournament director Ray O'Brien canceled the round after 115 players had posted their 16-hole scores. Thirty-nine other contestants, including such stars as Sam Snead, Lou Worsham, Porky Oliver and Mike Souchak, were still on the course.

O'Brien said water was standing on several greens, making the course unplayable. He said it would not be fair to the 39 remaining contestants to force them to continue under such adverse conditions.

He added that it was very doubtful that they would have been able to finish their rounds Friday because of the large field.

VALLEY CITY COLLEGE DOESN'T RELIEVE IN DEFENSE
VALLEY CITY, N. D. (AP)—The boys throw defense out the door when they play basketball at Valley City Teachers College Fieldhouse.

In the first game of the season, St. John's of Minnesota whipped the hometowners 112-77.

A few days later Valley City got the idea and set a fieldhouse record in beating Bottineau, N. D., 121-62. The combined scores of the two games, 372 points, adds up to something like four points a minute.

BASILIO'S HAND BADLY BRUISED AFTER FIGHT
CHITTENANGO, N. Y. (AP)—Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio said Thursday his left hand— injured when he stopped Tony DeMarco in Boston Nov. 30—still pained him but that he expected it would be healed within a week.

"The doctor says it's just badly bruised," Basilio said.

He said he planned to begin training right after Christmas for a proposed title fight with ex-champion Johnny Saxton.

Illinois Tangles At Columbia Saturday In Non Conference Tilt

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. Dec. 8 (AP)—Illinois, 107-75 winner over Butler in season opener Tuesday, meets formidable Missouri at Columbia Saturday night in second of seven pre-conference tuneups.

Coach Harry Combes, pleased with work of his veteran ball club against the Bulldogs, nevertheless found room for improvement, and stressed defense in practice Wednesday and Thursday.

"Although I didn't feel we worked the ball as well as we might have at times, a team can't score 107 points without doing many things satisfactorily. I was encouraged with the play of the first five. They outscored Butler by 34 points in the 20 minutes I let them work as a unit."

Combes felt that failure of his "bench" to impress was due in great part to "sophomore jitters." Some of the newcomers definitely will help Illinois over the 21 games ahead, he said, emphasizing that their play was about what he had expected.

There will be no lineup changes for the Tigers. Combes felt that the team got an excellent performance from Bruce Brothers, a late starter for regular Bill Altenberger who has been lost indefinitely because of glandular fever. Brothers, a regular last season, was most impressive defensively of the starting quintet, and contributed 14 points.

"Our fast break will not be as effective against taller teams who are able to delay us under the boards," Combes said. "We are going to concentrate more on set patterns, and hope to get in for good, close shots as we did Tuesday."

Illini leave for Columbia by chartering airliner at 1 p.m. Friday, returning to Champaign Sunday morning.

AP Conducts Poll On Out-Of-Season Drills

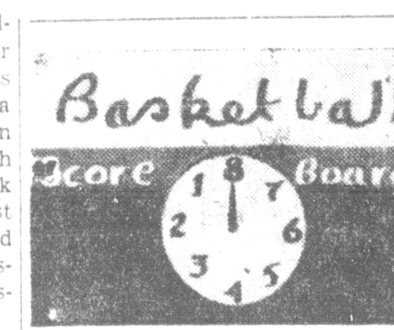

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A few years ago the 400 or so member colleges of the National Collegiate A.A. voted to limit the time devoted to out-of-season practice in football and basketball.

The rule reads that pre-season football practice may not start before Sept. 1 or two weeks before the start of classes, whichever is earlier; that college teams are limited to 10 contests (including scrimmages against outside opposition), and that post-season (winter or spring) practice is limited to 20 sessions in a period of 36 calendar days.

Now that these restrictions have been given time to take full effect, The Associated Press included a question in its annual post-season football survey on whether these restrictions made football poorer or less interesting in 1955.

The consensus answer: Poorer, possibly; less interesting, certainly not. Competition is the important thing.

The board, meeting in closed session, voted 14-2 for a resolution against retaining Cherberg. The vote was purely advisory since the Board of Regents this weekend for what may be the final showdown.

It was the latest development in a controversy that started when a group of players rebelled against what they said were Cherberg's "tyrannical" coaching methods and asked school officials to try to get the coach to resign.

Graham Feels Some Tactics Should Be Outlawed In NFL

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Contrary to previous reports, Cleveland Browns quarterback Otto Graham says he does not consider the National Football League a "dirty league."

He does feel, however, that the tactics used by some players in the circuit should be outlawed.

Graham, principal speaker at Wednesday night's Norfolk Sports Club football jamboree, summed up his opinion this way:

"I think that as a whole the NFL plays clean football. We certainly play the best football."

"But I do know, however, that there are some players who get away with murder... and I do think there has been an increase in that type of play. It should be outlawed. The present penalties are not drastic enough."

Swink Of Texas Crowned College Scoring Champ

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NCAA Service Bureau statistics showed that Swink collected 125 points on 20 touchdowns and 5 conversions to lead the nation's scorers among big colleges.

Running up Jon Arnett of Southern California ran for 15 touchdowns and added 18 extra points for a 106-point total. Defending champion Art Luppino of Arizona tallied 96 points to finish in a three-way tie for third place with Tom McDonald of Oklahoma and Ed Vereb of Maryland.

Nashua Named The Racing Champ Of '55 By Selectors

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Belair Stud's Nashua was named American horse racing champion of 1955 Friday.

The Thoroughbred Racing Assn.'s Board of Selectors, made up of 21 secretaries of 40 tracks throughout the country, made the choice. It came as no surprise that Nashua was picked, since the colt earlier was named 3-year-old champion and was 2-year-old titleholder in 1954.

Nashua won 6 of 8 races as a 2-year-old and triumphed in 10 of 12 starts this year, including 7 with $100,000 or more in gross money. His 1955 earnings of $752,550 set a new record for a race horse and made his total winnings $945,415, second only to Citation's $1,085,760.

CHANDLERVILLE (Special)—Coach Pappy Wainwright's ball club handed the I.S.D. Tigers their first defeat of the season last night, 58-56.

Chandlerville was trailing by four points as the first quarter ended, but in the second period the hosts found their shooting eyes for 25 tallies to take a lead the Tigers could not overcome.

The game wasn't decided until the final minute of the fourth quarter. The teams were deadlocked as Fritchulitch, Chandlerville forward, made a layup to provide the winning margin that downed the Tigers.

Huffman's 21 markers copped scoring honors for the evening. Paul Mehning netted 16 points to continue his offensive scoring punch.

In the preliminary contest I.S.D. won easily, 71-49.

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Rails and utility issues retreated in a generally lower bond market Thursday. Selected industrials resisted the downturn. U. S. Treasury obligations posted their first gains of the week, after three consecutive days of losses.

Corporate volume declined to $4,140,000 par value from $4,150,000 Wednesday.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Highly selective buying Thursday sent the stock market ahead.

The best of the rise came with strength in individual issues in aircrafts, steels, motors, railroads and chemicals and scattered other stocks.

Plus signs generally were no larger than $3 while losses went to around $1.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 50 cents at $181.40. That is a dime under the record high that the average reached Sept. 23 and again last Monday and Tuesday.

The industrial component of the average was up 70 cents, rails up 60 cents, and utilities up 10 cents.

The day's volume was 2,970,000 shares, compared with 2,480,000 shares Wednesday.

Glenn Martin dropped back 1/4 at 33 3/4, as divers located parts of its SeaMaster jet bomber that exploded in midair Wednesday in a test flight over the mouth of the Potomac River.

The American Stock Exchange was higher on volume of 990,000 shares as against 980,000 Wednesday.

WHEAT HITS PROFIT TAKING, CLOSES LOWER

By WILLIAM FERRIS

CHICAGO (AP)—After three straight days of advance, wheat ran into profit taking and closed lower on the Board of Trade Thursday. Rye declined with wheat.

Corn, oats and soybeans advanced. Soybeans turned upward near the end of the first hour and maintained their gains to the finish. Buying pushed corn up late in the session and oats followed.

Wheat closed 1/4-1 1/2 lower, corn 1/2-1 1/4 higher, oats unchanged to 3/4 higher, rye unchanged to 3/4 lower, soybeans 3/4-1 1/2 higher and lard 5 to 18 cents a hundred pounds lower.

Wheat started fractionally higher in an attempt to continue with its strong upward movement of recent sessions. But within a matter of minutes it had given up its gains. Thereafter, it sold under the previous close all day.

Soybeans turned higher immediately after the government came out with a cotton crop forecast lowering estimated production 180,000 bales from the previous month's forecast. The cotton trade had looked for an increase, possibly as high as 500,000 bales.

Size of the cotton crop is important to soybean traders because cottonseed oil made from cotton competes in the fats and oils market with soybean oil, made from soybeans.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

CHICAGO (AP)—In an active market butchers hogs mostly sold steady to 25 cents higher Thursday. Sows gained 25 cents.

The 17,000 salable arrivals, plus a small carryover from the previous session were taken quickly and there was a complete early clearance.

Two lots averaging 205 pounds reached $12.00, the top. This was a gain of 25 cents from the 14 year low set Wednesday.

Most 180 to 220-pound butchers brought $10.50 to $11.50, 230 to 260-pounders $9.75 to $10.75 and 270 to 310-pounders $9.25 to $9.75. Sows sold from $7.75 to $9.25.

Cattle receipts were at their usually small Thursday total, amounting to only 2,000 salable head. There were no high choice or prime steers offered. Steers and heifers sold steady to 50 cents lower.

Good to average choice steers went at $15.50 to $21.00 and good to choice heifers at $15.50 to $20.50. Cows sold steady to 25 cents lower at $8.75 to $11.00 for utility and commercial and $7.50 to $9.25 for canners and cutters. Vealers held steady at $20.00 to $25.00 for good to prime.

Lambs sold steady at $18.00 to $19.00 for choice and prime woolled types. Salable sheep receipts totaled 2,500.

This is one of several events of the Christmas season on the MacMurray campus. One of the highlights of the season is the Christmas Vespers on the same day at 7:30 p.m.

Missouri Cancels State's Reciprocity Truck Fees Pact

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (P)—Missouri canceled its truck fee reciprocal agreements with Oklahoma and Illinois Thursday in a continuing fight against what Missouri called unbalanced fee schedules.

The Missouri Public Service Commission notified both Illinois and Oklahoma that, effective Jan. 15, the 12-year reciprocity agreements are canceled. The commission said the action was being taken because each state "is no longer extending full reciprocity to residents (truckers) of Missouri."

Both agreements were established in 1943 but through the years, in most states, there has been substantial change in truck fee regulations.

The original agreements provided that whenever either state concluded that reciprocity no longer worked as well for its truckers as for the truckers of the other state the contract would be dissolved.

Both Oklahoma and Illinois now have laws setting over-the-road truck fees similar to the Missouri PSC law. But in recent months, a Missouri commission spokesman said, neither Oklahoma nor Illinois has waived truck fees on Missouri trucks.

"The only thing we can do under those circumstances is to cancel the reciprocity agreements," the spokesman said.

ICC Asked Not To Disturb Present Coal Freight Rate

WASHINGTON (P)—The Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) has been asked not to disturb present railroad freight rates on fine coal moved from Illinois, Indiana and western Kentucky to the Chicago area.

The request was made by attorneys for coal mining interests in the three states in final arguments before the ICC on what are proper rail and barge rates for the coal.

Under ICC investigation is last year's action by the railroads in cutting their rates on Chicago-bound coal from Illinois, Indiana and western Kentucky 65 to 69 cents a ton to meet barge competition.

Waterway interests protested the reduction in rail rates.

Examiners for the ICC and the Illinois Commerce Commission have said the rail cut was too great. They have suggested that either present rail charges be raised or that both rail and barge rates be adjusted.

An ICC decision will be made later.

PREDICTS SOLAR ENERGY WILL REPLACE GAS, OIL, COAL
OTTAWA (P)—Dr. J. L. Locke, stellar physicist at the Dominion Observatory, predicts solar energy some day will replace natural gas, petroleum and coal. He told a Royal Astronomical Society meeting the sun's rays on a 1½-square mile area in one day equal the energy of the first atomic bomb dropped on Japan, at Hiroshima, in 1945.

Honor Jan Sibelius, Noted Composer, On 90th Birthday

HELSINKI, Finland (P)—Cigars, claret and congratulations flowed in for Jan Sibelius, the great Finnish composer, on his 90th birthday Thursday.

His works were played at concerts from Helsinki to New York, from London to Shanghai.

President Juho Paasikivi, himself 85, said in a broadcast that Sibelius' music—"inspired by the ancient Finnish people and the rugged beauty of Finland"—will live forever.

Composers and musicians paid tribute.

Arturo Toscanini sent his own recordings of Sibelius' works. There were messages from such men as Britain's Sir Thomas Beecham and conductor Eugene Ormandy of the Philadelphia Orchestra.

Among the signers of a flood of telegrams were King Frederick of Denmark and West Germany's President Theodor Heuss. Most of the cabled good wishes came from the United States.

Sibelius stayed out of the spotlight.

He observed the day quietly with his family at his country home, 40 miles from Helsinki, with his wife, Aino, their five married daughters and their grandchildren. There were no speeches.

Ceylon Finds Way To Stop Communist Party Shouting

COLOMBO, Ceylon (P)—The government of Ceylon has produced what it believes is a solution to the problem of Communist-front organizations. It quietly has cut the supply lines from Moscow which have been financing Red groups here.

The straying out technique first was hinted by Premier Sir John Kotelawala in Parliament last Tuesday. He said he had given some simple advice on how to fight communism to the premiers of Australia and Thailand and the chief ministers of Singapore and Malaya.

What he meant became clear Thursday in a statement by police that some special controls have been imposed. This, a police spokesman said, is what the Premier had done:

1. He banned imports of books, periodicals and films from Communist countries and agencies.

2. Sir John asked banks not to honor drafts to groups named in a local subversives list unless clearance was given after police inquiries.

Sir John said the party no longer can pay taxes or rent and has no money to hire halls for meetings. Once the supply of money from Russia stopped, he said, "the party ceased shouting."

BRITAIN TO SEND ATOMIC BOMB FORCE TO CYPRUS

Cyprus has been building up Britain as her main Middle East stronghold despite the wave of violence there in support of Greek Cypriot demands for union with Greece.

Purses Stolen From Parked Car; Vent Pried Open

Two purses were stolen here Wednesday night from a car owned by Mrs. David White of Franklin.

Mrs. White was lucky in a way—there was no money in them.

She reported to the police department that sometime between 9 and 11 p.m. a thief pried open the right window vent of her car, which was parked in the 300 block on East Morgan street. Both purses were lying on the seat.

One was red plastic, the other brown plastic. They contained cosmetics and other articles, but no cash.

The police department Thursday issued a warning to Christmas shoppers to refrain from placing purses, purses, or other articles in cars which are unattended, where would-be thieves can see them.

Mrs. Bigler Addresses C.W.F. At Winchester

WINCHESTER—Mrs. Clarence Bigler, wife of the Rev. Bigler, minister of the Methodist Church in Griggsville, was the guest speaker at the general meeting of the Christian Church C.W.F. Wednesday evening at the Winchester Christian Church.

Mrs. Bigler is an Indian American of the Euchee tribe, which was formerly called Youche tribe, and her home was originally in Oklahoma.

She spoke on the history of the tribes of Indians who make their homes in the southeastern states, mainly Florida, Georgia and Alabama, many of whom have never lived on Indian reservations, but on individual farms which were at one time allotted to them by the government.

The Indian reservations of today have replaced this form of help for the Indians. Following her talk she showed colored slides of the Euchee Indians and of the work which the Protestant churches are doing in Oklahoma through schools and churches.

Mrs. Jesse Saffer was program leader of the meeting and introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Myrna Wisdom was in charge of devotions assisted by her daughter, Sandra, and Mrs. McFarland at the organ.

A special vocal number was sung by Mrs. Eddie Evans and Mrs. Catherine Cox.

A brief business session preceded the program, and was conducted by the president, Mrs. Muri Hardy.

The members of the missionary societies of the other local churches were guests at the meeting.

Refreshments were served in the social rooms of the church following the meeting by the Elizabeth Circle.

PRIMITIVE PEOPLE

In northern Australia are to be seen the best specimens of the aboriginal tribes. Entirely nomadic, they are the most primitive of all peoples.

ROMAN ROADS

Ancient Rome built a road system that stretched from northern Scotland to the Euphrates River in Asia Minor, parts of which still are in use.

Sergeant's Letter Tells Of History Of French Morocco

MEREDOSIA — Recently Mrs. W. G. Steinberg received a letter from S. Sgt. Ben Iverson, stationed in French Morocco. This is Sgt. Iverson's second tour of duty in Morocco, and he has taken the time to learn something about the country and its people.

He writes that Morocco is a very old country with a history dating back before Roman times and well before the time of Christ. Many ruins remain of buildings erected in early times. One place is the "Lost City," better known by its right name, Volubilis.

It is eight kilometers west of Meknes and three from Moulay Idriss, the Moroccan holy city. The Lost City had a water system and sewers carved from rock by excellent masons. There were bath tubs which were heated from beneath, and which were used by the men, then by the women, and last by the children.

No unbeliever or infidel was allowed to stay inside Moulay Idriss overnight. Its streets are narrow and "very filthy."

Close to Rabat is the ancient ruin of Chellah and the tomb of the Black Sultan — called black because of his cruelty, not his color.

The people in the coastal regions are a mixture of Arabs, Jews, Europeans, Negroes and Berbers. The Berbers are the native people of the country, but are often called Arabs because Arabic is the most common language. The Arabs and Berbers are of the white race. The soil is rich and would produce heavily if irrigated.

Mrs. Steinberg met Sgt. Iverson in March, 1943, when she and her brother, the late Lt. Ivan Rice, were attendants at his wedding at Gowan Field, Boise, Idaho. Sgt. Iverson and Lt. Rice were members of the same B-17 crew in England.

ALEXANDER

ALEXANDER — Mr. and Mrs. David Evans and mother, Mrs. Carl D. Evans were guests on Thursday evening at the C. E. Keenan home. David and Donna arrived home after a year in Alaska. They were stationed at the Fairbanks Air Base. After Jan. 4 they will be at Peru, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ferguson from Nebraska were luncheon guests Nov. 26 of his sister, Mrs. W. T. Keenan and family. They were guests of their mother, Mrs. Jack Prewitt, and also attended the funeral of their grandfather, Mr. Ben Ferguson in Jacksonville.

Ruth Long of Jacksonville visited over the past weekend with her aunts, Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Lindeman.

Mrs. C. E. Keenan spent last weekend in Roodhouse with her daughter, Mrs. Virginia Evans and family.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wallbaum, Jr., of California, have been visiting at the homes of his aunts, Mrs. Nell Baker and Mrs. Barbara Ridder and uncle, Charles Wallbaum. Carl Ridder expects to accompany them to their home for a visit.

CHANGING SPEEDS

LANSING, Mich. (AP) —Michigan will have chameleon-like signs to warn motorists of new statewide speed limits.

The signs are treated with reflectorized paint so that the warning of the 65 mile limit during the day will change to 55 miles at night under the glare of car headlights.

About 3,000 of the signs will be posted over the state's trunkline system.

TRIALS OF TRIALS

CHICAGO (AP) —Judge Julius Hoffman of Federal Court had a full docket of cases to be settled and few jurors to hear them.

He ordered marshals to button-hole passersby when only 80 veniremen reported for duty. One recruit taken before the judge said he was a French horn player and was urgently needed at a theater. The judge let him go.

The problem was solved when attorneys agreed in all cases to juries of only 8 members instead of 12.

RETURN OF THE SWALLOW

RUSSELLVILLE, Ky. (AP) — It wasn't funny then, but Sam Hundley laughs now about losing his lower plate and coughing it up five weeks later.

He swallowed the false teeth when he suffered a stroke.

Hundley's difficulty in eating and drinking was blamed on the stroke until a coughing spell and a pounding on the back by his wife brought them up.

Dr. C. A. Wood said the chompers apparently had lodged in his esophagus.

Toastmasters Name Ralph Jones Best Speaker Of Night

Ralph Jones received the week's best speaker award at a meeting of the Toastmasters' Club Wednesday night for an address entitled "Do You Know This Villain?"

Jones' talk revealed the casual connection between diet and heart disease. The heart of the speech was a case-history demonstration of the relationship between food fats and the blood chemical cholesterol.

Jones was the final speaker on the program.

Opening the evening, Travis Budlong discussed the problems attending the administration of federal aid to education in a talk titled "A Phony Bonus." Budlong pointed to the three major problems currently facing America's public schools: techniques of teaching, classroom space, and proper facilities and equipment.

Melvin Akers, second speaker of the evening, told of the difficulties of finding oil in Illinois in a speech called "Nineteen Holes."

James Rafferty's speech, "Freedom," contrasted famous illustrations from history with contemporary life to make clear the privileges of freedom. The two major threats to freedom now, Rafferty said, are abuse of opportunity and love of security.

Speech evaluators were Homer Wood, George Delaney, Oliver McIlraith and Howard Brown.

Vandals Break In Another Jersey School Building

JERSEYVILLE—Vandals continued their depredations in this city during Monday night. Instead of returning to the schools of the locality they selected the "Teen Age Building" at the city playgrounds on East Spruce Street.

Police reported the intruders gained entrance by breaking a window at the west side of the building and utilized a barrel to reach the window and crawl through it.

Inside the building, the vandals proceeded to pull open drawers of filing cabinets and scattered records about the place. They also damaged walls and furniture before leaving the premises.

The break in was the third of a similar nature during the past two weeks. The Jerseyville Grade School was the site of two former burglaries and acts of vandalism.

On the second break in at the school, the intruders gained entrance by way of a tubular fire escape at the south side of the building through a second story door to the escape.

During the second raid at the school house the intruders carried away several butcher knives from the cafeteria kitchen. Sheriff Herman C. Kirchner stated Tuesday morning that the parties entering the Teen Age Building at the playground Monday night had used a knife or knives in committing some of the damage in the Teen Age place. He intimated that the knives used may have been those carried away by the school house raiders.

The object of the break in at the Teen Age building was apparently not for the purpose of larceny, Kirchner indicated, but was the work of individuals bent upon destruction of property.

LEGITIMATE PHONY
CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Geoffrey Hobday, conductor of the Charleston Symphony Orchestra, was making his dramatic debut in a community play production of "Dial M for Murder."

Hobday's wife and daughter anxious to get the audience reaction at intermission time, heard one woman say:

"The play is going along fine, but that fellow who plays Captain Lesgate has the phoniest English accent I ever heard."

Hobday was born in Birmingham, England, and has been in America only about three years.

POINT OF NO RETURN
PAYSON, Ariz. (AP)—After spending a day looking for Indian arrowheads C. H. Kelly felt mightily low because he couldn't find any.

Tired, he headed back to his car and found an arrowhead, which made him feel even lower.

It was imbedded in a tire of his car, and the tire was flat.

DOLLARS AND NONSENSE
LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Dean Ives had a birthday and received a package from his son, Doug, a university student.

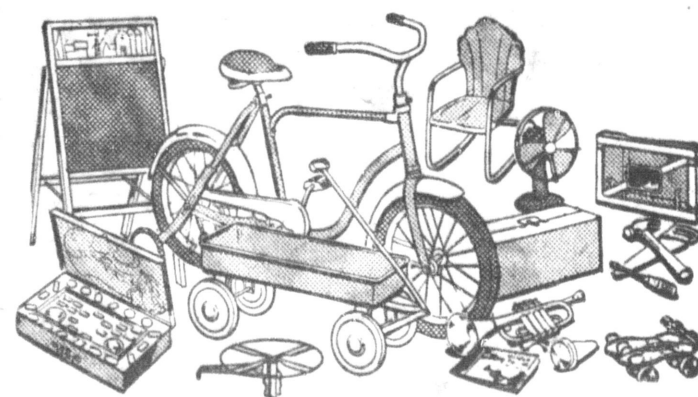

Opening the box, Dean found a set of inexpensive cuff links and matching tie clasp. And this note: "Dear Dad. This isn't much. But it's all you can afford."

ALARMING SITUATION
SHELBYVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Two would-be burglars obligingly—but accidentally—called the police when they entered a lumber firm in the wee hours.

One of them knocked a telephone off the hook. The operator relayed word to officers that something strange was going on. So the police rushed out and nabbed the pair.

Saga Of A Daring Lady: Belle Boyd Her Career Was Spying

BY GAILE DUGAS

NEW YORK—(NEA)—She was an honorary captain in the Confederate Army. She was arrested 30 times. She began her career by killing a man when she was 17.

Today, she's an honored figure. Her life story has inspired a hundred plays and novels. The latest of these is "The Smiling Rebel." It's a biographical novel by Harnett T. Kane and it tells the romantic and accurate story of Belle Boyd, the Confederate spy.

Though Belle Boyd was one of the most beautiful women to grace the Lost Cause, she irritated certain people. One Unionist said he thought she'd be even lovelier with a rope around her neck.

But somehow, the Yankees never quite got around to hanging her. In those days, you were polite to a lady even if she were trying to kill you, directly or indirectly. But Belle served two long terms in the dreadful prisons of Washington. She almost died from heat and privations but both times, she talked her way out. These were her most severe prison sentences.

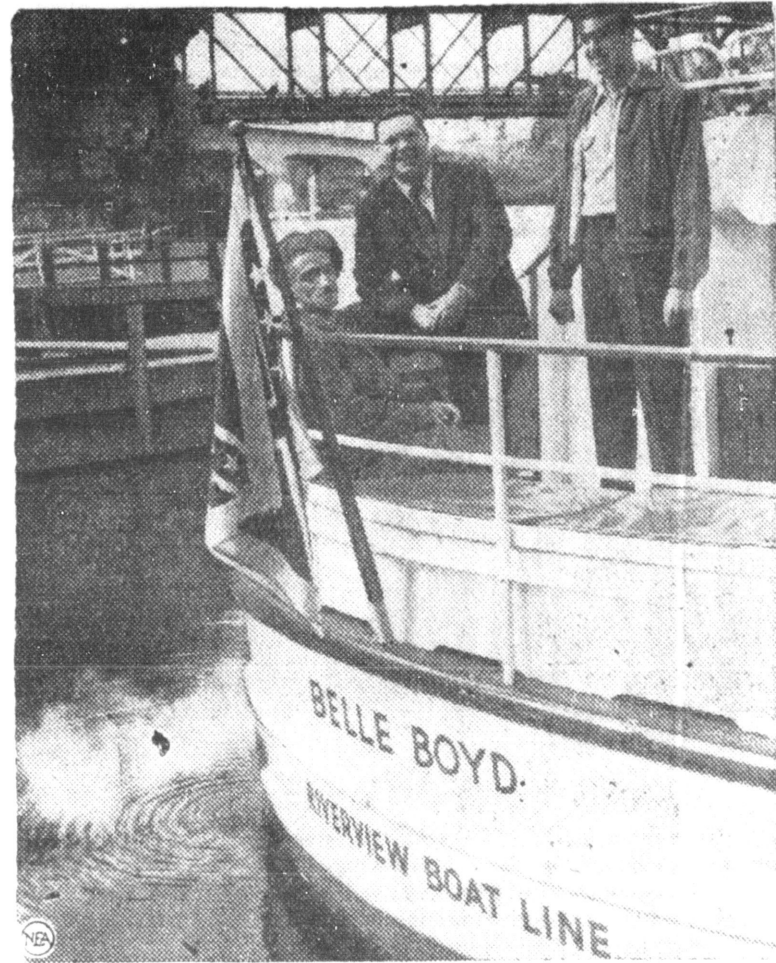

Interviewed here in New York, Harnett Kane explained his concept of Belle Boyd.

"Only a very few people lead lives full of drama and excitement and tension. Belle Boyd was one of these. She stole every secret she could put her hands on and had fun doing it."

"Her greatest adventure came when she sailed from North Carolina on a blockade runner. She was carrying information, of course. But she was captured by a Union Navy vessel and managed to charm the Union commander. He allowed her to escape, was fired from the Navy and followed Belle to Europe. Once there, he found himself accused of being a Southern spy!"

Over and over, Union commanders told her they'd hang her the next time they caught her. Belle would look sad, promise to behave and go free. And right back to her career again.

For Harnett Kane sees her as a career woman who was ahead of her time. When the war had ended, Belle Boyd traveled the country,

At Wisconsin Dells, author Harnett Kane (who hails from New Orleans) shares a laugh with a couple of Yankees aboard the "Belle Boyd." The boat was named for the Confederacy's most famous woman spy who's also the subject of a new book by Kane.

lecturing and urging the North and the South to bind up their wounds and reconcile their differences. The beauty that fascinated so many men does not show up clearly in pictures of Belle. Other women of the Confederacy were more photogenic but, clearly, Belle's beauty was the elusive, changing and tantalizing kind that made it relative. Seasonal Dress-UP

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

All the amusing, attractive accessories and clothes in the department stores for holiday wear makes some mature women feel just a touch of envy. Perhaps their waists are too large to bear the conspicuousness of a glittery belt. Perhaps they feel a gold dress is a little, well, too youthful for their situation. The earrings may not do at all.

For those who feel somewhat deprived of the fun of the season because of any of these reasons, here are a few nominations for strictly holiday wear that might do well for grown women:

A red velveteen housecoat. Get one that sweeps the floor, even if you usually wear the short kind. Have the festive fun of coming to breakfast in it, even if only once a year.

A sari-sheer silk scarf with gold threads. This is an inexpensive item, but as crisp and gay as new snow. Wear it with your suit or coat, or just form a pocket, if you've a mind.

A white tailored blouse with holly embroidery. This you may do yourself or you can buy it. There is nothing overyoung about such an item, but it is definitely seasonal.

Flowers. These can be for a house or for yourself. But a woman never gets too old for flowers. If you choose to have them in your home, they will complement your seasonal spirit as surely as a corsage.

ROODHOUSE

Mrs. Margaret Sullivan entertained a group of relatives at dinner Sunday honoring her father's widow, Mrs. Charles P. Thompson of Jacksonville, whose birthday anniversary occurred Monday, Nov. 28. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. William Fishback and daughter, Sue of Springfield and Miss Anna Duer of Jacksonville.

'Hate Mongering'
Band Of Politics
Dangerous: Adlai

NEW YORK (AP) — Democrat Adlai Stevenson declared today some Republican officials apparently are resorting to political "hate mongering." He termed it a "dangerous brand of politics."

Stevenson said "there appears to be a design to play the ugly politics of group hatred," and he asked:

"Is this, indeed, an attempt to stir up class conflict? no election, no office is worth such a price."

He said the highest duty of American people nowadays is to say nothing in the political arena which will hurt democracy's chances abroad. He added:

"And the politics of hate mongering even blights democracy's future here at home."

Stevenson, 1952 Democratic presidential candidate who now is making another bid for his party's nomination, spoke out in his prepared address for the AFL - CIO convention.

He said he had intended "not to let this become a political speech," but went on to add:

"I propose, nevertheless, to speak bluntly against what appears to be a design to play the ugly politics of group hatred."

He continued:

"It started with the secretary of agriculture's attempt to blame the farmer's current depression on the city worker's wage increase."

"And now the chairman of the Republican Senatorial Committee has charged labor leaders with organizing 'a conspiracy of national proportions' to take over the federal government."

"The national chairman of the 'Salute to Eisenhower' dinners has made his curious insinuating statement that labor became a potent political force in America at about the same time as the rise of the Nazi party in Germany."

"A member of the Cabinet has said that he doesn't 'happen to go along with some of the 'goons' as he puts it, who are 'running things'."

"And a Republican state chairman has proclaimed that labor leaders are Marxist-Socialist bosses who are trying to take this country down a rate hole."

Stevenson continued:

"This, I repeat, is a distressing and a dangerous brand of politics."

DEER DEAR — A decorative, snowy white Christmas reindeer gets added decoration in the form of pretty Vonnie Waldee at Cypress Gardens, Fla. It's a sure bet that Vonnie would be very welcome to ride with Santa Claus on Christmas Eve.

GM Says Dealer
Who Complained
Made $ Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — A General Motors official told senators today that one GM dealer who complained to them made a million dollars in less than 15 years but now has an "inadequate performance" on car sales.

William F. Hufstader, GM vice president in charge of distribution, singled out M. H. Yager, Pontiac dealer at Albany, N. Y., in a statement prepared for the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee studying GM operations.

Yager, a former GM and Ford executive who quit to become a retail dealer, told Hufstader, GM president Harlow H. Curtice and a roomful of other GM executives last week that they were "becoming dictators and little Napoleons."

Yager said GM had used a "gun-in-the-ribs approach," threatening that a dealer's "head will roll" unless he meets sales quotas.

Two other active GM dealers also voiced complaints about GM policies to the committee headed by Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo). Hufstader Wednesday said car dealers who protest GM policies are those who were unprepared for the day when sales competition would get tougher, and he said the vast majority of GM 17,000 dealers "are among the most successful small businessmen in the country."

DOG PLAYS CHECKERS
BUT TRAINER ADMITS
TRICK ALL BALONEY

MANTOWOC, Wis. (AP) — Dog trainer Kurt Mueller used to brag that one of his animals was a checker player and backed it up by opening a door to his study to show the dog and Mueller's son huddled around a checker board. The dog made his moves by moving the pieces with his nose. Then Mueller closed the door.

A writer showed up to do a feature story and Mueller was trapped into explaining that the dog's checkers were actually slices of smoked sausage located by smell and then eaten as soon as the closed door hid the visitors.

EARL ATTLEE OF —;
—'S STILL SECRET

LONDON (AP) — Clement R. Attlee, who has retired as head of the British Labor party and accepted an earldom, will style himself "Earl Attlee of —."

That word came from his wife, Violet, who becomes a countess. She told reporters the blank part of the title is a secret.

"It will be the name of a place closely associated with him, but not Great Missenden," Mrs. Attlee said. Great Missenden is the village west of London where the Attlees live.

Attlee, 72, retired as party leader Wednesday.

SONS OF SORROW

BERLIN, Conn. (AP) — Here's what happened in one weekend to the sons of Mr. and Mrs. John McQueeney: Ralph, 10, was playing with a spring. It got away from him, hit him in the mouth and broke a tooth. Russell, 6 fell out of a tree. He landed on his brother, Mark 9. Russell broke his arm; Mark his ankle. Jerry stepped on a nail protruding from a board and had to have anti-tetanus shots. Earlier in the year, Jerry lost an eye when struck by a splinter blown out of an incinerator fire.

HOODED THIEF

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Gary Levitz has a nominee for the meanest thief. He just couldn't get his car started one morning no matter how hard he tried. Found the trouble under the hood. Someone stole the fuel pump.

THE STORY: Although Capt. Jered Naish and Phoebe Proctor are to be wed, Phoebe's father wants Jered to take the whaler Obis to sea before the wedding. Although both Jered and Phoebe are disheartened, Phoebe is a sailor's daughter and tells her sweetheart he must go.

III

TOM BEALE, who had lost a leg some years back in a Proctor ship, was the cutter decker. He stood on the after deck and squinted thoughtfully aloft as Jered and his father embraced in silence. Then Phillip Naish mumbled, "Good sailing to you" and was gone. Beale's boy and Beale had already hefted the chest aboard. "If you'd like to make use of the weather, sir," Beale said, "we'd better be under way."

"Aye," Jered Naish said. The well-known sensations of sadness and subdued excitement that came with the commencement of every new voyage were gathering in him. "Is Miss Phoebe aboard?"

"In the cabin, sir."

"Shove off, then. I'll be below with her should you want me."

Phoebe sat on the red plush settee in the fore part of the elaborately decorated cabin. She wore a dark woolen cape that gave accent to her pallor. "This is stuffy here," she said whispering. "Can we go on deck?"

"When they have the sails set."

The cutter had taken the wind and was running free, and from the sounds on deck Jered knew that Beale was at the tiller, the boy forward on lookout. He raised Phoebe from the settee, thrust her before him up the companionway. The moonlight shimmered on the huge mainsail that was one of Captain Proctor's particular delights.

"How beautiful it could all be," Phoebe said. They sat shoulder to shoulder forward of the mast, as the cutter rolled in the small seaway.

He took her hand. "I'll be coming back to you. We'll have our own home, our youngsters. Don't you lose hope."

The wind made vague what she said in reply, and he didn't dare to ask her to repeat it. He had never seen Phoebe so sad, so downcast, and he was greatly troubled. He gazed shoreward bleakly to see that the boat was out through Cat Island Channel and standing well with the Westerly on a broad reach to the South. He tightened his arm around Phoebe. "I love you, love you, love you!" he said.

THE cutter was close in under the counter before they were given any attention. Then it came in a guttural shout, a scream. A whole chorus of screams, yells and curses and shouts followed.

Men, green and drunken hands who had no desire to go to sea, were being knocked around on the main deck of the Obis. A belaying pin struck bone. A mate's fist smacked punctuation to the shout, "Lay for'd, you!"

Phoebe kept completely motionless beside him in the cutter's cockpit. But she said in a harsh voice, "Don't leave me, Jered. Take me along. Please."

He stared at her, only partly aware that Beale and the boy were fending off the cutter and hanging onto a boat-rope along the ship's side. It was possible, he realized. He could take her with him. There were marrying parsons in Boston who'd come out and make the splice. But Phoebe shouldn't go aboard this ship.

A man was at the taffrail and trying to leap across it. Blood was down his twisted, stunted face. His mouth gaped over broken teeth. "I'm no sailor, and they won't let me leave."

Mr. Cupp came to strike the man down out of sight. Mr. Cupp wore a tarpaulin hat and an almost gentle smile. "Excuse us, Miss and Cap'n," he said. "The feller don't rightly know to what he put his name. Have the ladder ready instant, sir, and here's a line for your chest."

TOM BEALE took and made fast the line. He held the bottom rung of the Jacob's ladder while Jered still stared at Phoebe. "You think you can't," she said. "You'd have me believe it's wrong. Cupp's a brute; the crew will be beaten into being sailors; the quarters aren't correct; I haven't the right clothes. Things like that are holding you back. But you must take me. I tell you so with all my heart."

"There's no way," Jered Naish said. "It would be mad to let you come into such a ship."

"But you'll take her out. Why?"

"Because I'm a sailor and it's my job and I've given my word." He reached to kiss her, but she turned her face away, was stepping backward in the cockpit. Then she stopped. She smiled as though at some joke. "Mother would say, amn't I the niny to carry on so. Of course you have to sail this ship, and I can't go with you. It's a foolish idea that came all of a sudden to me. If other women can wait, I will. Goodby, dear heart. Best of luck. If you get the chance, write me. I'll—I'll be home." Her hands went against his shoulders with exceptional strength to push him toward the ladder.

He took the ladder stride by rapid stride and sprang down over the rail to the ship's main deck. "Clear those lubbers into the fo'c'sle for the time being," he said furiously to Mr. Cupp. "Send your full afterguard to the windlass. I'm bound for sea."

"That ain't fit style," Mr. Cupp said. "It's mine, though," Jered Naish said. He met the mate's eyes in a deliberate stare.

(To Be Continued)

"ST. ANSGAR SIX" LEARN THEIR DOWNBEATS—At St. Ansgar Hospital, Moorhead, Minn., recently, an outburst got together with a piano, a share drum, violin, guitar and an accordion. Behind the instruments were the six Franciscan nuns, pictured above with their administrator. All are bent on learning their musical up and down beats. It's strictly an uphill battle, but the sisters are practicing with inspired determination. Only pianist Sister Bernice is an accomplished musician. The sisters' orchestra will concentrate on "popular songs and hymns—no jazz," says Sister Mary Joseph, administrator. They're setting their sights on Christmas, 1956, for their first performance. So this Christmas the sisters' hospital choir will again entertain the patients. "St. Ansgar Six" includes, left to right, front row: Sisters Onilia, German, Marcita and Bernice. Back row: Sisters Phyllis and Annella. In black habit is Sister Mary Joseph.

NOT GUARANTEED

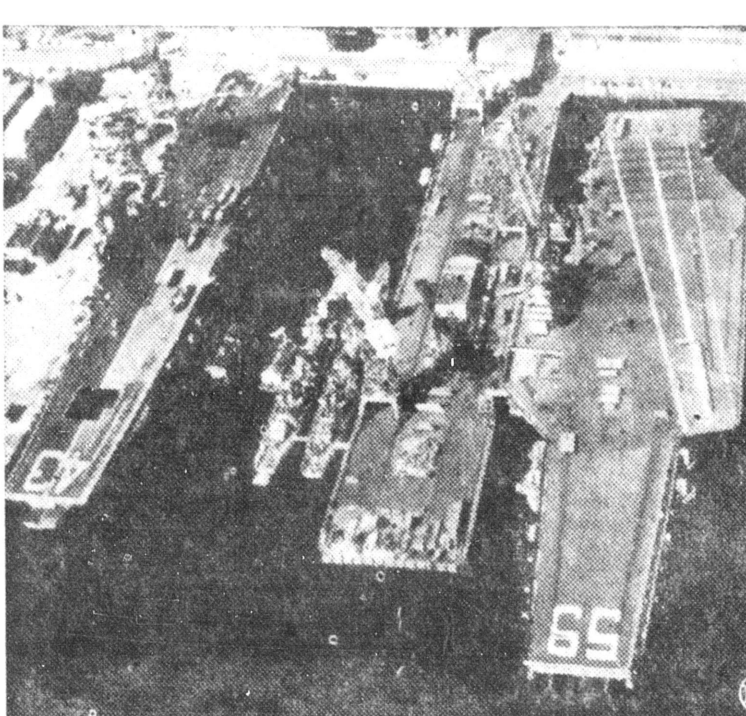

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (P)—To
ease a traffic hazard at the junction of U.S. 441-State Road 20, safety engineers erected a new stop sign.

Thirty minutes later a truck driver saw the sign and applied the brakes. The brakes jammed and the truck overturned. He wasn't hurt.

FREE MEDICAL TRAINING?

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (P)—Medical schools should charge no fee at all in the opinion of Alexander G.
Ruthven, president emeritus of the University of Michigan.

Ruthven, writing in the Journal of the Michigan State Medical Society, said: "There are brains on both sides of the tracks, and they should be fully utilized in medicine.
Ability and ambition to achieve success are not related to the economic status of parents."

ANSWERING THE CALL TO DUTY—A polar bear cub moves in for a meal at the Milwaukee, Wis., zoo. But the feeder is a dog, not the mother bear. Because zoo officials feared the cub would die or be killed by its inexperienced mother, a dog that had just had pups was called on for wet nurse duty.
